“Uniting Four Hooves and Two Minds”™

Communication that considers the nature of the horse and allows their innate willingness to become more visible to the human.
You must channel and direct the energy within the horse toward a union of their ideas and yours.

Farrier science coupled with the art of the feel results in shoeing and trimming from the horse's perspective that I call “Equi-motion.”™

Equi-motion is a hybrid science that incorporates the traditional farrier philosophy, natural balance and barefoot trim into a methodology that is the study of horse locomotion.

I use conformation-based remedies derived from modern scientific information on the study of limbs and concussive forces as well as space-age materials to rectify deviations in the flight pattern of the hoof in the air and on the ground. I offer more than 20 years of experience with hot, cold and warm shoeing with corrective, therapeutic and orthopedic applications. Equi-motion brings the client — both owner and horse — an extraordinary shoeing experience with professional service and Western hospitality.
